

CDAF Annual Report for 2017

Due to some extenuating circumstances CDAF activity in 2017 has been limited to running the Annual Conference. This was held 17-19th May in Bristol, and was on the theme of "Inclusive Teaching and Technologies: Facilitation Learning in a Diverse Digital Age". It was very well attended, and positively received. Some of the CDAF funds were used to subsidise the conference costs.

However, as the usual round of bursaries were not offered in this year, subscriptions were suspended as the accounts will show.

Following the AGM in March 2018 it is expected that the full range of activities will be resumed, with a schedule of meetings as well as conference, and at least one bursary call.

CDAF Members and the Executive wish to express their warmest thanks and appreciation for the many years of service of those retiring or resigning from office in 2017, namely Firoozeh Ghaffari, Rod Kelly, Rona O'Brien, and David Russell.
