

CDAF PEDAGOGIC BURSARIES

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS 2022-2024

CDAF are offering up to two pedagogic bursaries for the academic years 2022-2024, up to a maximum of £3,000 each. This includes funding for research into pedagogical and curriculum issues in accounting/finance and dissemination of findings at a conference.

Applications from both individuals and groups are welcome. The following conditions will apply.

- (a) Bursaries are intended as 'pump priming' for new or returning academics, and are only available to those who are new to pedagogic research OR who have taken a break from research (i.e., those in the last five years who have received no pedagogic funding from any external source AND have no refereed publications). They are not available to fund DBA/PhD programmes or preliminary work for DBAs/PhDs.
- (b) Each application must include a letter from the relevant Head of Department confirming departmental support for the proposal along with confirmation of the eligibility of the applicant(s) for the award.
- (c) Applicants must be employed by institutions that are fully paid-up members of CDAF throughout the duration of the award.
- (d) Awardees must present a paper at the BAFA, Accounting Education Special Interest Group, Annual Conference within a maximum of 24 months of the receipt of the first instalment of the award. If satisfactory progress is not made, the bursary may be withdrawn. Successful candidates will be expected to submit a progress report, typically 12 months after the bursary is awarded.
- (e) Payments will be made in two instalments, the second of which will only be paid once a satisfactory final report has been received and a paper has been presented at a BAFA, Accounting Education Special Interest Group, Annual Conference. Payments will be paid to the applicant's university and, given the size of the award, overheads should not be deducted by the Institution, nor included in the budget submitted in the application.

Applications:

The following should be submitted:

- Pedagogic research proposal, no longer than 3 sides of single spaced 12-point A4 (excluding references) (see pages 3 & 4 for more details/guidance).
- A summary CV, no longer than 2 sides of A4.
- A letter of support and confirmation of eligibility from the applicant's Head of Department.

Applications that do not comply with the above will not be considered.

Applicants should email their Pedagogic Research Proposal, Summary CV and Letter of Support as PDF files to:

Professor Joan Ballantine, Ulster University Business School

Closing date for application: 30th November 2022

CDAF PEDAGOGIC BURSARIES

GUIDANCE NOTES

These notes are intended to assist in preparing proposals for CDAF pedagogic bursaries. Each proposal should give the following details:

1. Name(s) of Applicant(s)

2. Department(s) and Institution(s)

Please provide full address details together with relevant telephone number and e-mail address.

3. Experienced Colleague

It is expected that applicants, who are new academics, will have experienced colleagues to whom they can turn for advice and assistance. The name, title and address of an experienced colleague who would be able to help an applicant with his/her pedagogic research project should be included. This requirement is waived in the case of returning academics (the last five years).

4. Title of Research

Using a maximum of 12 words (e.g. "Engaging accounting students: findings from an innovative pedagogic intervention").

5. Brief Description

Set out in 20-30 words the main purpose of the research.

6. Proposed Outcomes

All recipients of a CDAF pedagogic research bursary are required to present their project at a BAFA, Accounting Education Special Interest Group, Annual Conference before the second instalment of their bursary will be paid. They are also expected to submit the findings of their pedagogic project to Accounting Education (<https://www.tandfonline.com/journals/raed20>). The proposal could indicate further research to which the project may lead and the personal and departmental development to which the research is likely to contribute.

7. Research Proposal

A brief outline of the research should be provided in accordance with the structure provided on page 4.

Pedagogic Research Proposal:

Please use the following headings in your proposal

Objectives:

Introduce the importance of the pedagogic research, its objectives and why the area is worth investigating.

Background and Previous Research:

Set out briefly the background to the pedagogic research along with an indication of relevant research (i.e. literature review) that has been carried out. Set out full citations for the references you have used at the end of the proposal.

Theoretical Underpinning/Framework:

Indicate which theory/framework you will draw upon in your pedagogic research project.

Research Method:

Specify the research method that is to be taken (e.g. pedagogic intervention, focus group, interviews, survey, etc) with appropriate justification. Give some details about where the data used in the study will be collected from and how it will be analysed. Depending on the nature of the pedagogic research, this might involve, for example, indicating which groups of students will be involved, the design of research instruments (e.g., survey, interview protocol), ethical approval, and procedures for data collection, storage and reporting (anonymity/confidentiality).

Costings:

Outline in detail the costs expected to be incurred in undertaking the pedagogic research. All costs must be justified and any planned expenditure that is considered unnecessary or beyond what is reasonable will not be funded. Indicate the support that your Department will contribute (e.g. software, staff development, travel/subsistence expenses etc.).

NOTE: Applications must not exceed a maximum of 3 sides of single spaced 12-point A4 (excluding references). Any application in excess of this will not be considered.
